DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-3, 11, 14- 17 and 20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bissonnette et al.

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

3. Regarding claims 1, 11, and 20, Bissonnette et al., discloses an apparatus and method for measuring the coefficient of restitution of an object with features of the claimed invention including a method that employs positioning an impact object in an initial stationary position in an enclosure (element 34 which is an air cannon holding a ball); constraining the impacted object to move in a predetermined path (within the canon tube), moving the object toward an impacting object, such that the impacting object is a golf ball determining the coefficient of the restitution by measuring the velocities before and after the impact (see, for example claim 28).

Regarding calms 2-3, 14-16, Bissonnette et al., suggests the use of proper objects (col. 4, line 45-50).

Regarding claim 17 an air canon should have vent in order to perform properly.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 21-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable Bissonnette et al.

Bissonnette et al., does not elaborate on the weights of the various elements of the impact, however, since the whole test is regarding golf game situation, it would have been obvious for a skilled artisan at the time of the invention to modify their device to choose objects that simulates the golf ball and the related club within the same range of the claimed invention in order to have a meaningful overall testing procedure

Art Unit: 2855

6. Claims 4, 12-13, 18-19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Claims 5-10 are allowed.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
